TO EFFECTIVE PHILANTHROPY IN LAKE COUNTY

OCTOBER 1, 2009 - SEPTEMBER 30, 2010 ANNUAL REPORT
The mission of The Lake County Community Foundation is to improve the quality of life of the most vulnerable residents of the county by providing civic leadership, promoting collective philanthropy and partnering with our grantees.

The Lake County Community Foundation serves as the center of knowledge of community needs, a strategic resource for the nonprofit sector and a valued collaborator with donors who consider the Foundation as the premier partner for their collective philanthropy.

Dear Friends:

Since 2003, The Lake County Community Foundation has proudly served as the charitable compass for our community—pointing the way to strategic and collaborative philanthropy. With the support of our donors, we have awarded $1.7 million in grants to over 70 nonprofit organizations that are improving the quality of life of Lake County’s most vulnerable residents.

Today’s difficult economic times underscore the importance of the Foundation’s leadership as we forge strategic alliances and educate donors about how collective philanthropy can change lives. We are driven by an imperative to strengthen Lake County’s health and human service sector, enabling it to meet the ever increasing demand for services. This year the Foundation engaged community leaders, donors and stakeholders to address two critical issues facing our county: the sustainability of the health and human service sector and access to basic healthcare for the county’s more than 100,000 uninsured and underinsured residents. The Foundation made significant progress by:

• Convening a first-of-its-kind Leadership Task Force to encourage local nonprofit leaders to work more effectively and efficiently.

• Identifying gaps in Lake County health and human services with our Understanding the Sector mapping project, which will serve as a tool to enlighten the community about the needs in Lake County and encourage more meaningful collaboration among nonprofits.

• Completing the planning phase of our Access Lake County project, an initiative with the goal of ensuring that healthcare resources are available to all residents of our community.

This year we also received our first major unrestricted endowment gift from a now-defunct charity. The Foundation was the logical choice to receive these funds as community foundations have a rich history of preserving donor intent. This major gift will help the Foundation provide critical resources to the community for generations to come.

We know that our philanthropic compass must remain steady as we navigate uncertain times. Each year brings substantial challenges for our nonprofit partners as they seek to maintain critical functions at a time when both government and private funding are increasingly scarce. With the support of our donors, we continue to identify new opportunities to join together and invest in effectively responding to pressing needs. The Foundation is privileged to provide leadership on these issues so that together we can create a county that all residents are proud to call home.

With appreciation,

Collective Philanthropy

MORE THAN A SUM OF ITS PARTS

Lake County, IL

Bus tour participants.
When Aristotle famously pondered the concept of the whole and the sum of its parts, it is doubtful that he was thinking about philanthropy. Yet that is exactly the concept behind collective philanthropy—when donors work together, they strengthen the lives of others. Their collective impact is much greater than that of numerous individual donations.

In collective philanthropy, like-minded donors pool their contributions to magnify the power of their giving. It is the primary reason that community foundations exist. Acting as a catalyzing force, community foundations bring together people who care about their community, help them target specific areas of critical community needs and then identify the agencies best addressing those needs. Because community foundations unite people, institutions and resources, they have achieved significant and lasting results. This is illustrated by looking at the rich history of The Chicago Community Trust, and by extension its geographic affiliate, The Lake County Community Foundation.

In 1915, Norman Harris and his son, Albert Harris of Harris Trust and Savings Bank, founded the country’s second community foundation—The Chicago Community Trust. This innovative idea of a community foundation had a simple yet powerful premise: to give local residents an opportunity to support their community in perpetuity. The initial gift created permanent funds for grants targeted toward civic affairs, education, culture, health and social services. Ninety-five years later, The Chicago Community Trust is the fourth largest community foundation in the United States with assets totaling more than $1.5 billion. The Trust continues to honor the Harris’ promise to the region, putting donors’ dollars to work for lasting impact.

The Trust honored Mr. Harris’ legacy by creating The Lake County Community Foundation in 2003. The Foundation’s beginnings came about over kitchen table discussions amongst local civic leaders who recognized that Lake County had significant and growing challenges.

Unlike other nonprofit organizations, a community foundation is endowed in perpetuity, and by law, the donor’s original intent must be honored—no matter how long ago those intentions were made known. This concept was tested recently by the defunct Lake County Humane Society. Incorporated in 1939, the Lake County Humane Society was unlike the animal-focused humane societies we are familiar with today. Instead, the organization distributed food, furniture and clothing to the needy of Waukegan and Lake County.
When their last board member passed away in 2003, the organization was no longer able to operate and no provisions had been made for the distribution of over $1 million in assets.

The Illinois State Attorney General’s office determined that the Humane Society should be dissolved and an organization appointed to distribute its assets. In so doing, the state would ensure the preservation of Gertrude Glass’s original intent, namely to “promote kindness, benevolence, and humanitarianism amongst the citizens of Lake County and to aid in their general welfare.”

Given its deep knowledge of the needs of the community, its expertise in grant making and its imperative as a community foundation to preserve donor intent, The Lake County Community Foundation emerged as the logical choice to receive the assets of the former nonprofit. Thus, on January 4, 2010, the Circuit Court of Cook County awarded the assets to the Foundation.

“Our community foundation was the credible choice to thoughtfully distribute these funds,” said Peg Moreland, current Foundation board chair. “This extraordinary gift will help us continue to identify community needs in Lake County and help fund solutions that make an impact.”

The Humane Society gift is just one example of how community foundations can make a lasting impact in the communities they serve. The Foundation values the transformative power of partnerships based on mutual interests, trust and respect, while working in concert with those who are similarly dedicated to improving their community.

Taken separately, these two examples of extraordinary gifts would have been helpful only in the short term. However, pooled together with gifts from other donors and focused on specific needs, this collective giving will continue leveraging the financial, social and human capital for deep philanthropic impact. And, in keeping with the Harris family’s legacy, the impact of the gifts represent more than the sum of its parts.

Philanthropy starts with the desire to make a difference.

The Foundation can help you achieve your own personal philanthropic goals. Whether you make a gift to the Foundation’s annual appeal or open your own fund, all contributions to the Foundation help build a lasting legacy for our community. BOLD INITIATIVES

Initiative #1
Leaders Join Forces for a Better Lake County

In partnership with its grantees, The Lake County Community Foundation created an initiative aimed at helping local nonprofits remain vital and efficient while enhancing the leadership skills of executives. By bringing together The Kellogg School Center for Nonprofit Management at Northwestern University, the Donors Forum and Executive Service Corps, the Foundation launched the Leadership Task Force (LTF), a first-of-its-kind effort, made up of leaders representing nonprofit organizations from throughout the county.

Faculty from the Kellogg School delivered a customized executive education program during which participants learned management and leadership tools to put to use in their organizations. The Donors Forum presented a series of workshops on collaborations, mergers and other strategic alliances. Executive Service Corps worked with the task force leaders to initiate action plans for supporting, implementing and leveraging county-wide efforts. Throughout the year-long initiative leaders also developed a stronger network with their peers. Having just completed the initiative, the LTF’s final report lays out a bold action plan to cooperatively develop programs, share resources, and clarify a common vision for Lake County’s nonprofit sector.

Member organizations of the Leadership Task Force include: A Safe Place, Arden Shore, Barrington Career Center, Bennu Legal Services, Boys and Girls Club of Lake County, Catholic Charities, Community Resources for Education and Wellness (CREW), ElderCare, HACES, HealthReach, I-Plus, Lake County government, Lake County Health Department, LOVE Inc., Mano a Mano, Most Blessed Trinity, NICASA, PADS, Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science, St. Martin de Porres High School, Waukegan Public Library, Youth Conservation Corps and YouthBuild Lake County.

Cheri Ditzig of CREW and Carl “Spark” Ball of LOVE, Inc., participants in the Leadership Task Force.
Initiative #2
Understanding the Sector: Mapping Project Charts Health and Human Services

Does Lake County have sufficient health and human service resources and are they in the right places? To answer that question, the Foundation teamed up with IFF to initiate an unprecedented project, which surveyed dozens of nonprofits that provide Lake County’s human services, health care, education, housing and immigration/refugee support. The mapped results visually reveal significant gaps between the current capacity amongst providers and the demand for those services. The data will serve as a guide for planning strategic investments where needed services are absent and in identifying where duplicative efforts should be reduced or eliminated. Maps and project information can be found at the Foundation’s web site: www.lakecountycf.org.
Initiative #3

Access to Healthcare Program

A Collaborative Effort

The lack of access to basic health care services for over 100,000 residents of Lake County has reached crisis levels. Since 2005, the Foundation has been working with state Senator Susan Garrett’s Blue Ribbon Committee on Healthcare exploring ways to preserve and expand the capacity of the county’s health and human service sector. This year, the Foundation joined with the executive director of Access DuPage, Dick Endress, to form the Lake County Access Planning committee, comprised of leaders from each of Lake County’s hospitals and representatives from the medical society, the Lake County health department and HealthReach, Inc. (the county’s only free clinic). The committee’s goal is to help foster planning and collaboration amongst healthcare providers, area hospitals and physicians to ensure that residents of Lake County have access to the high-quality healthcare services they need.

SHAPING TOMORROW BY HELPING RESOLVE THE ISSUES OF TODAY
Foundation Award Continues to Bear Fruit

The Foundation made news with its fifth annual Bus Tour. Attendees took a hands-on look at local nonprofit organizations and explored creative ways of delivering critical social services. As a highlight of the tour, participants rolled up their sleeves and helped with food distribution from the Northern Illinois Food Bank’s Mobile Pantry truck. In 2010, local food pantries reported a 20% increase in visits from families. A grant from the Foundation not only helped support the increased demand, but also provided for five additional visits by the Mobile Pantry to locations across Lake County that are not served by traditional pantries. The mobile pantries allow qualified residents and their families to select from high-quality food including meat and fresh produce. The Foundation’s award provided over 1,200 Lake County families with 50,000 pounds of much-needed food this year.

Foundation Co-Sponsors “Keep Your Home” Event

More than 100 volunteers helped troubled homeowners determine whether they qualified for President Obama’s Loan Modification Program. Qualifying residents who attended the “Keep Your Home” event, held at the University Center in Grayslake, received one-on-one assistance in filling out applications, which were then filed electronically with their lenders. More than 700 Lake County residents attended the event, the largest event held in the Chicago metro area.

The Lake County Community Foundation was proud to co-sponsor this timely seminar with Neighborhood Housing Services of Chicago, the Illinois Housing Development Authority, the Regional Homeownership Preservation Initiative, the Lake County Bar Association, Attorney’s Title Guaranty Fund, and The Chicago Community Trust.
Senator Visits YouthBuild Sites

The Foundation hosted U.S. Senator Dick Durbin’s visits to two construction sites in North Chicago for a demonstration of the impact of public-private partnerships on providing job skills and work for underprivileged youth. Houses built by YouthBuild Lake County equip 40 students with job and life skills. Public and private grants, including two from the Foundation totaling almost $25,000, fund YouthBuild’s work.

July Nonprofit Meeting

The Lake County Community Foundation along with its partners, the College of Lake County, the Healthcare Foundation of Northern Lake County and the United Way of Lake County, convened over 100 nonprofits, civic leaders and elected officials to disseminate the results from Understanding the Sector, the county-wide mapping project. Susan Cahn, director of research at IFF, provided an overview of the project, its results, implications and recommendations. View the maps at the Foundation’s website: www.lakecoutnycf.org.

Reception Honors Foundation Grant Recipients

This year the Foundation awarded $120,500 to 14 local organizations working to improve the quality of life of the most vulnerable residents of Lake County. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Buonanno hosted the Foundation’s 2009/2010 grants reception at the beautiful Tempel Farms, home of the famous Tempel Lipizzans, where nearly 100 guests celebrated the Foundation’s most recent grant recipients.
The Foundation Welcomes New Board Member

Shaunese Teamer is a public relations executive with an extensive background in nonprofit marketing and national media management. She brings more than 20 years of community engagement planning and leadership experience through her work with Window To The World Communications, Inc., the parent company of WTTW Channel 11 television and 98.7WFMT radio. In addition, Shaunese has political expertise with municipal community development and planning having served as president of the Five Points Economic Development Corporation and as a member of the Lake County Partners Micro Loan Committee focused on new business development. She was the regional director of the National Black Caucus of Locally Elected Officials and is a graduating member of the Illinois Women’s Institute for Leadership. Shaunese is a graduate of Columbia College Chicago with a bachelor’s degree in broadcast communications and resides in North Chicago with her husband, Andre, and their three sons.

The Foundation Elects New Board Chair for 2011

Margaret L. Moreland (Peg) is a member of Credit Suisse’s Family Wealth Management and Center for Wealth Planning groups. Peg acts as Family CFO to several of the firm’s family client groups. Peg began her career as an educator and after teaching in the classroom for seven years, joined Frye Louis Capital Management, Inc. (FLCM) in 1995. Peg received her Bachelor of Arts in Art History from Willamette University and her Bachelor of Science in Education from Oregon College of Education. Peg is also a Certified Financial Planner™. In furtherance of her love for education and philanthropy, Peg is a fiduciary on a number of boards, where she serves as a trustee: Willamette University (the oldest private university in the United States west of the Mississippi) and National-Louis University, the oldest and now largest teacher’s college in America. Peg and her husband, Joseph, live in Lake Forest.

“The Foundation’s REACH grant to UMMA represented a defining moment for our organization and not just because of the money. It was a defining moment due to all the knowledge we obtained from the grant. I view the relationship between UMMA and the Foundation with a modified take on the ‘teach a man to fish’ proverb: ‘Give an organization a grant, you fund them for a year. Teach an organization to build capacity, you fund them for a lifetime.’” — ASHFAQ MOHIUDDIN, executive director, UMMA Center, speaking at this year’s grants reception.

Grant Making Your Way

Bus Tour participant, Diane Janson.

Lake County, IL
The number of donor advised funds (DAFs) is surging in the United States despite the state of the economy and volatile stock market.

Because of their flexibility, DAFs make grant making simple and effective. Donors create a personal, named fund, with a minimum gift of $10,000, and then make grants from the fund however they choose. Donors retain direct control of which nonprofits they support, have access to professional grant making guidance and benefit from tax incentives and expert management of their investment.

With a donor advised fund, a third party—a community foundation—manages and distributes funds to causes suggested by the donor. The donor receives the convenience of receiving philanthropic advice from their locally connected community foundation while avoiding the expense of establishing and managing a family foundation. A DAF offers several other advantages over private foundations, namely larger tax deductions, simplicity and more privacy as DAFs let donors choose between recognition or anonymity for their contributions.

By creating a donor advised fund at a community foundation, donors can organize all their charitable activities through one expertly managed and cost-effective charitable vehicle. Community foundations have experience in receiving and managing gifts of cash, real estate and assets like privately held business shares, venture capital and intellectual property. However, the biggest advantage of creating a fund through a community foundation is that they know—and live in—the community they serve.

DAFs climbed 11 percent in 2009 to 148,588 following a 13 percent increase the previous year, according to the National Philanthropic Trust. Even though the stock market is declining, assets held in donor advised funds are growing.¹

“Expanding the Foundation’s online presence focuses attention on the great philanthropy happening close to home. It helps us to connect even more people and organizations, so together we can make some much-needed changes in Lake County.”
